Stephen Covey in the Seven Habits of Highly Effective People suggests that one of those habits is “first seek to understand.” Martin Carcasson at last year’s Poudre River Forum pointed out that people don’t tend to change their opinions about things by listening to the other fellow’s facts, but we can improve civil dialogue by forming relationships with and listening to people with differing opinions. In that spirit, today we will hear from Save the Poudre. Introduction by Doug Swartz.
