

Fort Lewis College is situated upon the ancestral and traditional lands and spaces of Indigenous peoples

Nuuchiu (Ute)

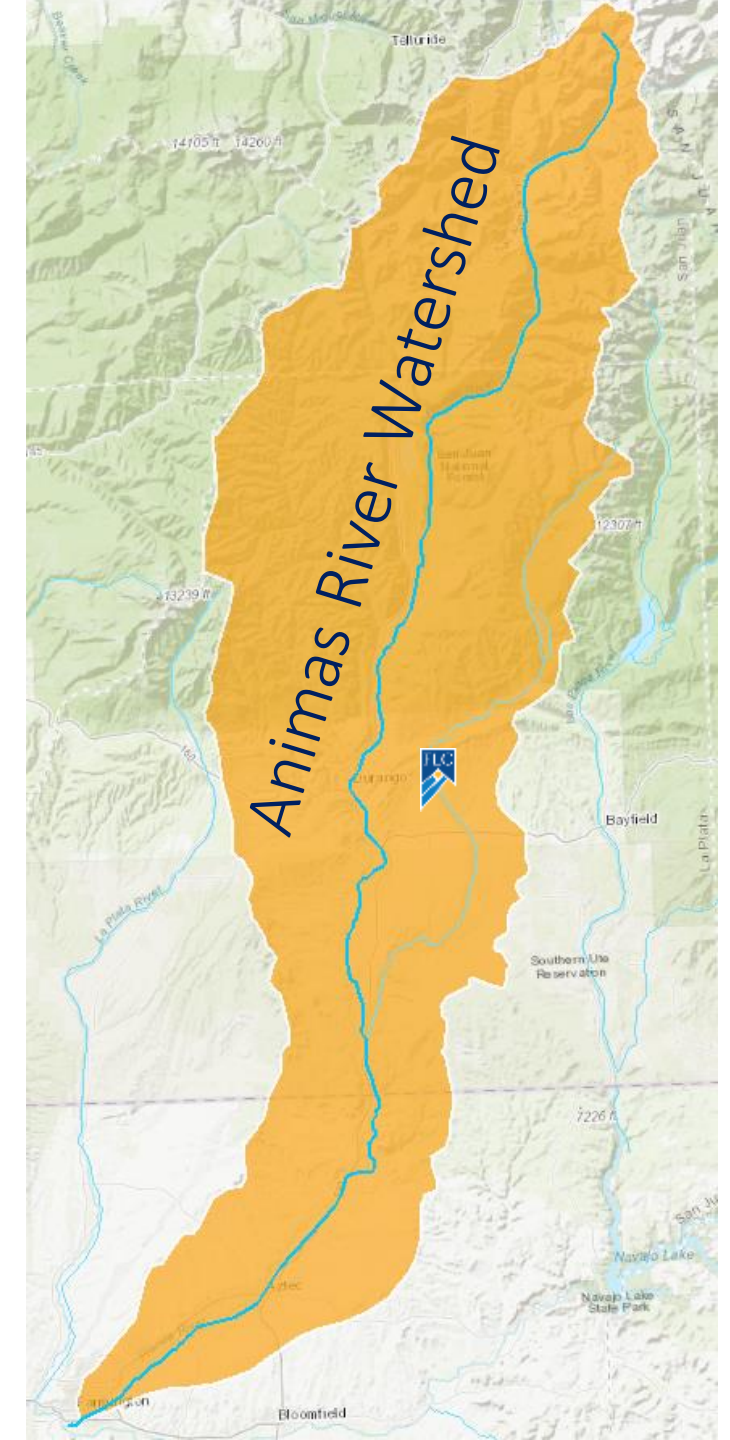

Jicarilla Abache (Apache)

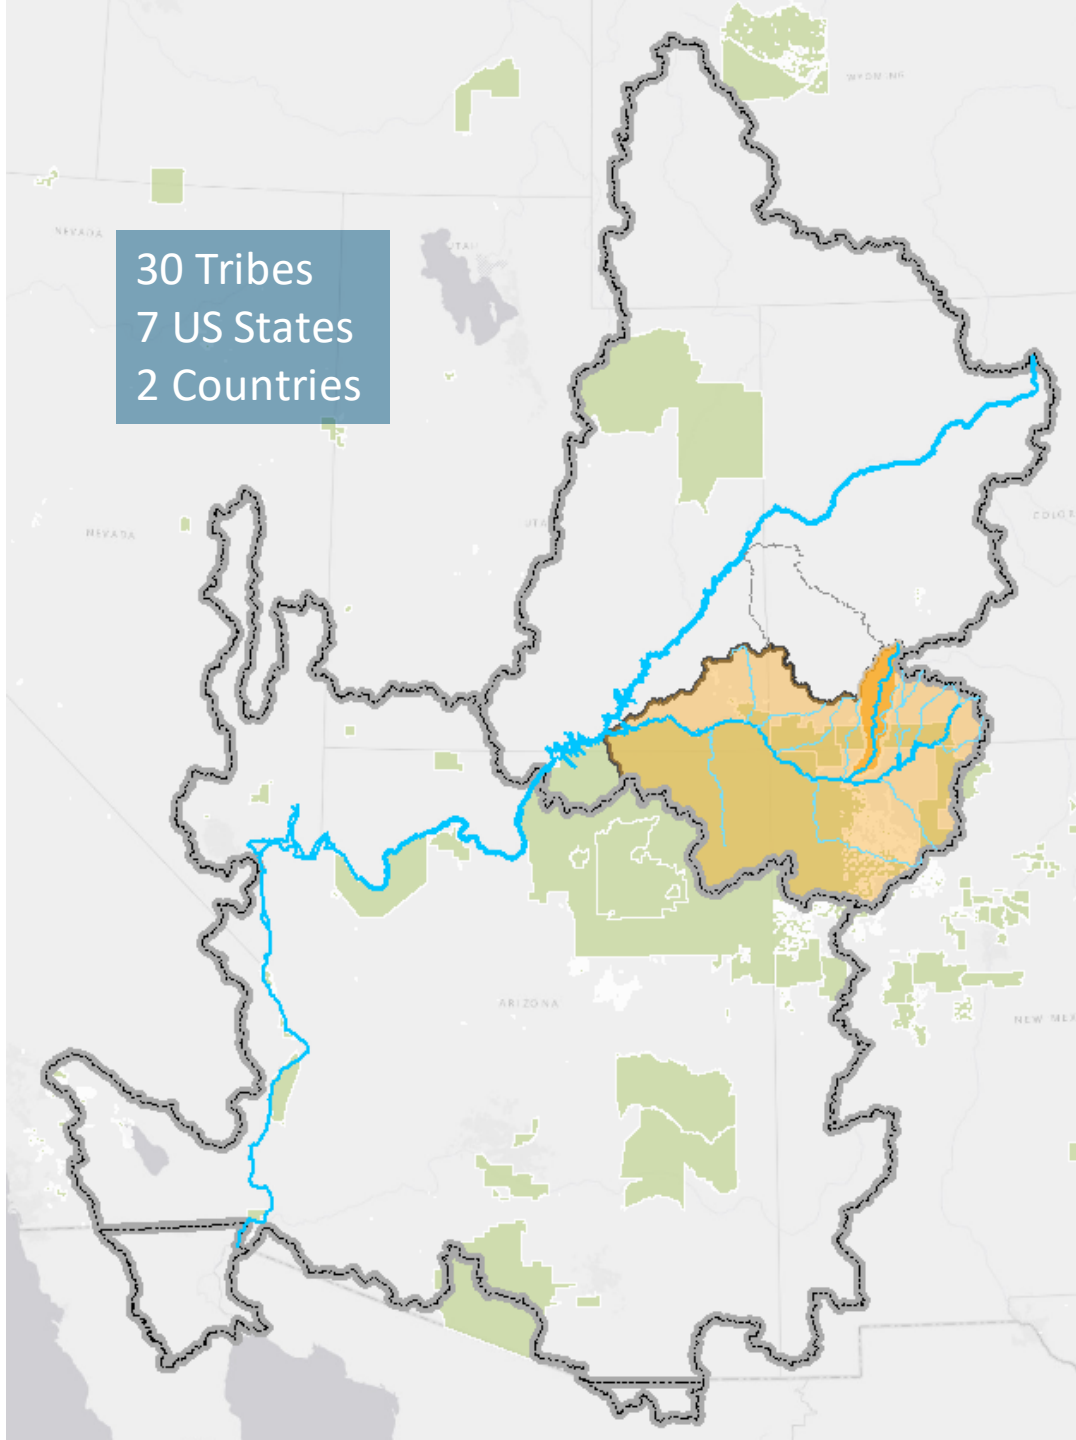

Pueblos of New Mexico

Hopi Sinom (Hopi)

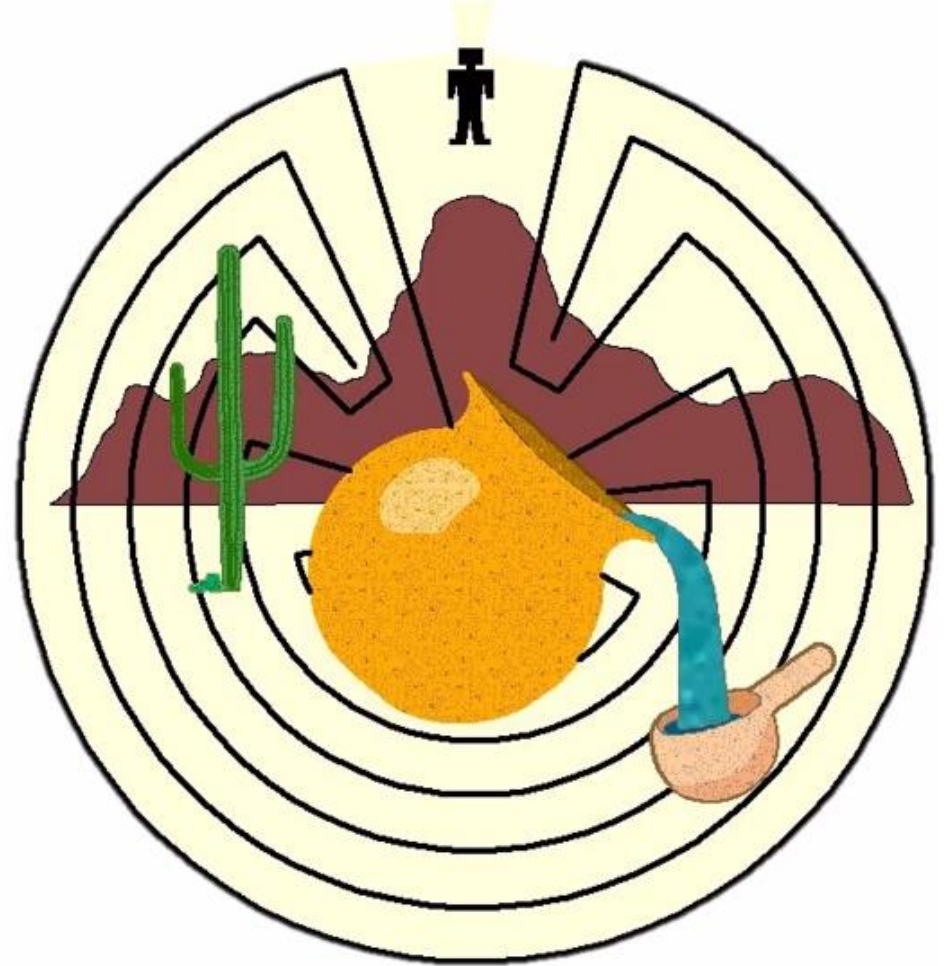

Diné (Navajo)

We honor and respect the land on which we gather.

"su:dagĭ 'o wud duadag"

"water is life"

Tohono O'odham

FOUR CORNERS WATER CENTER at FORT LEWIS COLLEGE®

...an interdisciplinary center dedicated to contributing to solutions to our water challenges

What we do...

- Cultivate the next generation of water leaders
- Inform and engage students and the public in regional water issues and solutions
- Collaborate with regional water and education organizations

FourCornersWater.org

Water Education Programs

- Southwest Colorado Education Collaborative “Environmental Pathway”
- 40+ Water Center Faculty & Staff affiliates
- River Studies Leadership Certificate w/ RMS
- Tribal Water Leadership Internship Program
- Tribal Water Media Fellowship
- new to the Colorado Water Fellows Program!
- Conferences, events, partnerships, internships

